ANYONE WHO HAS EVER DOUBTED THE TOUGHNESS OF AMERICANS DOESN'T KNOW THE AMERICA THAT I KNOW. WE ARE FARMERS. WE ARE TRADESMEN AND CONSTRUCTION WORKERS. WE ARE TRUCK DRIVERS, DOCK WORKERS AND COAL MINERS. WE ARE COPS AND SOLDIERS. WE ARE FIGHTERS, AND WE ARE TOUGH. WE ARE AMERICANS.

LIFE MUST BE AN ADVENTURE.

I am an adventurer. The dictionary defines the word as a person willing to take risks for personal gain or enrichment. Isn't that what life is all about? It certainly has been for me. And if you're reading this, I'm willing to bet that it has been for you, too. Otherwise, how would you even know about Emerson knives? You had to seek us out. You had to hear about us from someone or somewhere and we haven't even advertised our company in over 20 years. Not bad, when we're up against other companies with million-dollar ad campaigns.

How can this be? I'll tell you how. It's because, when you own an Emerson knife, it's not just a sharp piece of hardened steel. It's not just the #1 Hard Use Knife in the World. It's me. It's my honor, my reputation, my experience and, most importantly, my name.

When I started this company, I took a risk. A very big risk. I already had a wife, a family and a good job, but I yearned for an adventure; a journey, it turns out, where I could not possibly know the destination. But I did know one thing for certain, it would either lead to failure or success. I put everything at risk. Some would call that careless, foolhardy. But when you know in your heart that you must do something and you have an unshakable faith, coupled with a resolve to never quit or give up, then you'd better take the first step of that thousand-mile journey. Or you will regret not doing so for the rest of your life.

Yes, an adventurer must take risks but not without preparation, knowledge and the proper tools. If you're like me and you have spent any time off the beaten trail, then you know what works and what doesn't, and you know that your life, many times, could depend on the choices that you make. It has been said that wisdom comes not from knowing, but from doing. And those that have "been there and done that," choose Emerson knives to do the job. From battlefields to mountaintops, from Antarctica to outer space, Emerson knives have "walked the walk" and done the job.

Life is an adventure; be an adventurer. Live your life with no regrets. Let me share my adventure with you as we both step forward on a journey into parts unknown. In the words of Theodore Roosevelt from his speech In the Arena, "If he fails, at least he fails while daring greatly so that his place shall never be with those cold and timid souls who neither know victory nor defeat."

If this is who you are, then you are my brother and I will always protect you. And know that you have made the right choice.

— ERNEST EMERSON | 2019

EVERY EMERSON
KNIFE IS EXPERTLY CRAFTED BY HAND.

OUR STORY

Our story begins with the vision of our founder, Ernest Emerson, who started making custom knives in his garage back in 1979. He rapidly rose to prominence as an expert knife maker, due in equal parts to his expertise as a craftsman, his artistic eye for design, and his practical experience as one of the world's most sought-after and respected hand-to-hand combat instructors.

Emerson Knives Incorporated was formed by Ernest with one single goal in mind: build the best military and law enforcement edged weapons in the world. The result was a whole new knife category—"tactical knives"—and they took the world by storm. The iconic Emerson CQC-7 became the #1 tactical knife of all time, and it still dominates the market over 20 years later.

Today, Emerson Knives are coveted by elite military and law enforcement units around the world and have set the standard by which all other tactical knives are judged. They have served the world's most elite special operations soldiers in every world conflict and secret mission for over two decades. They have been carried into harm's way with the U.S. Navy SEAL Teams, Delta Force, Army Special Forces, Army Rangers, U.S. Marines, CIA Special Activities Division, and even the legendary British SAS, founder of modern counter-terrorist forces. An Emerson CQC-7 that was used in the raid that killed Osama Bin Laden even sold for $35,400, making it the world's most expensive and valuable production knife.

Emerson Knives employs over 20 hardworking Americans who every day push our products to go the extra mile and support your mission in life. Our founder continues to oversee operations and is the author of scores of articles, books, and videos on tactics, training, and combat. He is one of the most sought-after instructors in the world and is in high demand for seminars and lectures to civilian, military, and law enforcement agencies. He's also an inducted member of The Black Belt Hall of Fame, The United States Martial Arts Hall of Fame, and is the only knife maker who owns and operates his own training facility, the world-class Black Shamrock Combat Academy Gym in Los Angeles.

In a day and age when most knives are designed by graphic artists and just-out-of-school twenty-somethings who've never used a knife for anything other than sharpening a pencil, the Emerson name continues to stand head and shoulders above the rest.

WHY AN EMERSON KNIFE?

Because only the best will do. And having the best at your disposal never puts you at a disadvantage. Emerson knives are the "best of the best," designed and built for hard men and women who are described the same way. Incorporating cutting-edge designs, an artist's eye for form, an engineer's knowledge of mechanics, and a tactical operator's knowledge of function, our knives have forever changed the face of the cutlery industry. If you want to carry the "real deal," a "tactical knife" you can depend on to perform flawlessly in most any condition or circumstance, there's really only one choice. Carry a knife from the company that invented the tactical knife. Carry an Emerson.

BATTLE AXE / TOMAHAWK

I grew up in the deep woods of Northern Wisconsin and started pulping with my dad when I was eight years old. So I'm not just a designer; I'm an actual user. It's in my DNA. But when it comes to a Battle Axe, the Vikings were, hands down, the best of the best. They knew what worked and what didn't. The Emerson Combat Axe is nothing new. In fact it is over 1000 years old. I upgraded it and redesigned an ergonomic handle style, but the axe itself is a one-to-one copy of an actual Viking battle axe from my collection. With a grip-tite G-10 handle and perfect balance in the hand, it is formed from S-7 Tool Steel and is up to any level of destruction you intend to create. I coated it in a steel-grey Cerakote to help prevent staining so it can be used in the most extreme of environments. It's not too heavy. It's not too light. It's just right. I think a Viking Berserker would agree with that. I think you will too.

APPALACHIAN

The Appalachian is a design I developed for those who kept asking, "When is Emerson going to build a hunter?" The Emerson Appalachian is that knife. With a graceful upswept trailing point for delicate areas, enough belly for the hard work, and the Emerson ergonomic handle, this knife is the perfect hunter's package. Growing up in the deep woods of Northern Wisconsin, this is the knife I wish I'd had when I harvested my first deer at the age of 12 and my father made sure I dressed it myself. If I'd had an Appalachian back then, I'm pretty sure I would've done a better job of skinning that deer.

MARKET SKINNER

The term "market skinner" was the professional name given to the men whose job it was to skin, quarter and preserve the meat being supplied to large commercial consumers in cities up and down America's riverways and across the territories and states of the young American Union. Their main tool, above all others, was their knife—a hardcore knife that had to be tough, easily sharpened, and ergonomically designed for hours of laborious butchering. ## RENDEZVOUS

The Rendezvous was a gathering that all the trappers, hunters and mountain men attended to trade, sell, and barter their goods. It was a place to gather up supplies and to celebrate. And to keep a trusty blade within reach...just in case. The Emerson Rendezvous Knife is very much like the knives those intrepid wanderers always kept at their sides. The biggest difference is that our Rendezvous is a folding version of that mountain-man-tested blade design, just like the ones men like Jim Bridger, “Old Bill” Williams, Hatchet Jack, and Flat Top Thomas would have carried. ## POLICE UTILITY KNIFE™

PUK

Most knife makers make a fixed-blade or giant Bowie-style knife, supposedly designed for police, without really considering what officers actually need. The Emerson Police Utility Knife resulted from years of working hand-in-hand—hand-to-hand—with hundreds of cops. These brave men and women let us know they didn't need, or want, a great big wall-hanger; they needed a fixed-blade knife that's compact and stout—something they'd actually carry and deploy. Something about the size of an opened folding knife, with a secure handle and sharp, stiff blade. We listened, and our Police Utility Knife is now the gold-standard for law-enforcement use.

SEAX™

When something is just right, there's no room for improvement and it lasts for years. The Seax Knife is one of those “just right” things. It features an ancient design that goes all the way back to the Vikings. Those fierce, legendary warriors carried Seax knives, and they weren't just used as weapons—they epitomized a utilitarian design used for virtually every task one might encounter. Our Seax features a classic design with a straightforward cutting edge and a generous clip at the front that comes all the way down to the point. Its old-world design will hold up to any modern-day challenge you throw its way.

KWAIKEN™

In certain situations, carrying a sword was prohibited, so the Samurai developed a shorter personal-carry weapon that could be carried or hidden inside the folds of a kimono. This dagger was known as a Kwaiken, and it became the everyday-carry knife of the Samurai. The Emerson Kwaiken is a stunning modern interpretation of the concealed sidearm of Samurai warriors. The blade design features a long, trailing, single-edge dagger style that's fast and efficient while maintaining all of the sleek style and look of the original Samurai Kwaiken. We've added a deep finger choil and our patented “Wave Shaped Feature” for rapid deployment, upgrading the design of this weapon to be an honorable knife a modern-day Samurai can carry in any situation.

PATRIOT™

There are few words that conjure up as much emotion and feeling as “patriot.” This knife is designed to embody the legacy of the ultimate American patriot—George Washington—our country’s founding father, who embodied strength, honor, and a resolve forged in the fire of conviction. The Emerson Patriot is a humble working-man’s knife, just like the backbone of Washington’s army, the men and women who stepped forward into the breach to fight for an ideal they knew was right and just. It’s available in two variations, including the special edition made with wood from an actual tree taken from Washington’s farm that was alive when he was President of the United States of America. Just like Washington, these knives will never quit or give up and will always be ready to fight for what’s right and just.
